1.0 Executive Summary

NuStats administered the citizen's survey for the City of Grants Pass from mid-November through December 6, 2013. The survey was administered to Grants Pass residents as part of the City's effort to assess services provided by the City. The survey was provided in both English and Spanish, although no Spanish interviews were requested. A total of 392 interviews were completed. Each individual question has been addressed in Section 2.0, survey results, and a summary of the sample used is also provided in Section 2.0.

General findings are the citizens of the City of Grants Pass are pleased with living in the City. The citizens enjoy the climate, scenery, friendliness of the community, and the feeling of it being a small town. Additionally, many respondents commented they like being able to do most of their shopping in the City, and many noted they have a variety of shopping options within walking distance. An overwhelming number of citizens responded to the question "What do you particularly enjoy about living in Grants Pass?" with the vast majority of those comments being positive.

On the negative side, the citizens are very concerned about safety, law enforcement, homelessness and illegal drug use. The citizens feel the homeless and vagrants are aggressive and a threat to their safety, and have increased in numbers the citizens feel is no longer controllable. A few respondents commented there is open drug use downtown and they would like to see the police put a stop to it. The majority of respondents noted they would like the City to provide financial support to the Josephine County Jail and in follow up, stated they would be in favor of paying additional taxes in order to support the jail.

The survey interview length averaged just less than 10 minutes, which is the amount of time anticipated for this number and complexity of questions. The refusal rate (15 percent) was slightly higher than anticipated, as it was expected that citizens who are registered to vote are generally more interested in their city management, economics and lifestyle than citizens who are not registered to vote.

The option to add a web component to this survey was not accepted, however, NuStats has found that offering a web component can increase participation. Addition of a web component for the next Citizen Survey is recommended. The additional cost for this component is low for the return on investment.

2.0 Introduction

The City of Grants Pass has a population close to 35,000 and operates a wide range of services that include Police and Fire protection, a Water Utility, a Sewer Utility, a Street Utility / Transportation maintenance, Parks, Development, and a wide range of administrative and internal service funds that include services such as Fleet, Engineering, Property Management, Information Technology, Administrative Services, and others. The opinions of the citizens of the City of Grants Pass are very important to the City leaders, and as such this survey is the tool utilized to collect those opinions. The data collected will serve as a guide for the goal setting process and establishing priorities for the City's work plan.

The City of Grants Pass has conducted a survey of its citizens annually since 1998, with the exception of 2008 and 2011, with the objective of determining the opinion of its residents about the various services provided by the City, and pinpointing where improvements are needed as well as determining if the services currently being provided are considered appropriate. In 2013, NuStats, LLC was selected to conduct the City of Grants Pass Citizen Survey. The survey was administered via Computer Assisted Telephone Interviewing (CATI) and consisted of 13 questions about City services, 5 questions added for 2014 that contained one two-part question and one open-ended question, 8 questions about public involvement and information, 6 questions with regard to living in Grants Pass, and 6 demographic questions, two specific to ethnic origin which were added for 2013.

There were two qualifying questions included in the survey:

HELLO1: Are you a resident in the City of Grants Pass? And;

INVOLVE: Is there anyone currently living in your household who is employed by the City of Grants Pass serves on the City Council, or is an appointed member on other City Boards, Committees, or Commissions?

If the answer to HELLO1 was "No", the interviewer requested to speak with someone who is a resident of Grants Pass. If that answer was also "No", the interviewer thanked the respondent and read the termination script. If the answer to INVOLVE was "Yes", the household was disqualified and the interviewer thanked the respondent and read the termination script.

Sampling

In order to collect data from 400 citizens of Grants Pass, a total of 2,749 sample records were utilized, producing a completion response rate of just below 15 percent. Of the 2,749 sample records, 2,233 were from the registered voter lists, and 516 address samples were purchased from a sample provider, Marketing Systems Group located in Horsham, Pennsylvania. The purpose of adding randomly selected address-based samples that are mutually exclusive from the voter list was to cover non-voter residents in the study area. MSG randomly pulled 1,000 addresses from an address-based sampling frame. In this process, MSG screened out any duplicate address from the voter list that the client provided. One thousand address-based samples were then matched to the listed phone number database in order to match addresses with phone numbers. As a result, 320 phone numbers were successfully appended. All 1,000 records were matched to the person name, but only 320 phone numbers were successfully matched to the selected addresses. This match rate is low, due to not allowing duplicate phone numbers from the client-provided voter list. In order to increase phone matched records from address-based sample, the unmatched address sample list were sent to the client for 911 call record matching. This yielded an additional 227 phone matched addresses. A total of 547 phone numbers were again cross-checked against the voter list, and 31 phone number duplicates were removed. As a result, a total of 516 addresses with matched phone numbers were available for dialing.

3.0 Survey Results

This section provides a summary of the survey results for each question, and includes three comparison graphs, which utilized the results of the citizen’s rating of Grants Pass as a place to live (favorable vs. unfavorable) to compare with demographics, the rating of City services, and level of public involvement.

Table 1 shows call results of 2,749 samples that NuStats attempted to contact. Largely, call attempts yielded three types of call results: eligible that includes completes; ineligible; and unknown eligibility. Samples that are qualified, and either participated in the survey or refused to participate in the survey, were coded as eligible samples. Samples that were successfully contacted, but turned out either to be disqualified or have invalid phone numbers, were coded as ineligible samples for the survey. Samples where contact was attempted, but not successful due to refusal, hang up, no answer, or always busy, were coded as eligibility unknown.

Table 1: Final Call Disposition

Call Outcome	Sample Counts
Complete	400
Incomplete Eligible	70
Ineligible	715
Eligibility Unknown	1564
Total	2749

Three categories of the final call dispositions are used to calculate the response rate based on the method developed by the Council of American Survey Research Organizations (CASRO), which takes into account ineligible sample and unknown sample. Using the CASRO method, the percent of unknown numbers that will be found to be eligible is “(eligible/ineligible)”. The eligible count is 470 while the ineligible count is 715. The percentage of unknown numbers that will be eligible is 39.7 percent, and that yields the total eligible numbers to be $(470+1,564*39.67\%$ or 1,090). The response rate is 36.7 percent $(400/1090)$.

3.1 City of Grants Pass Services

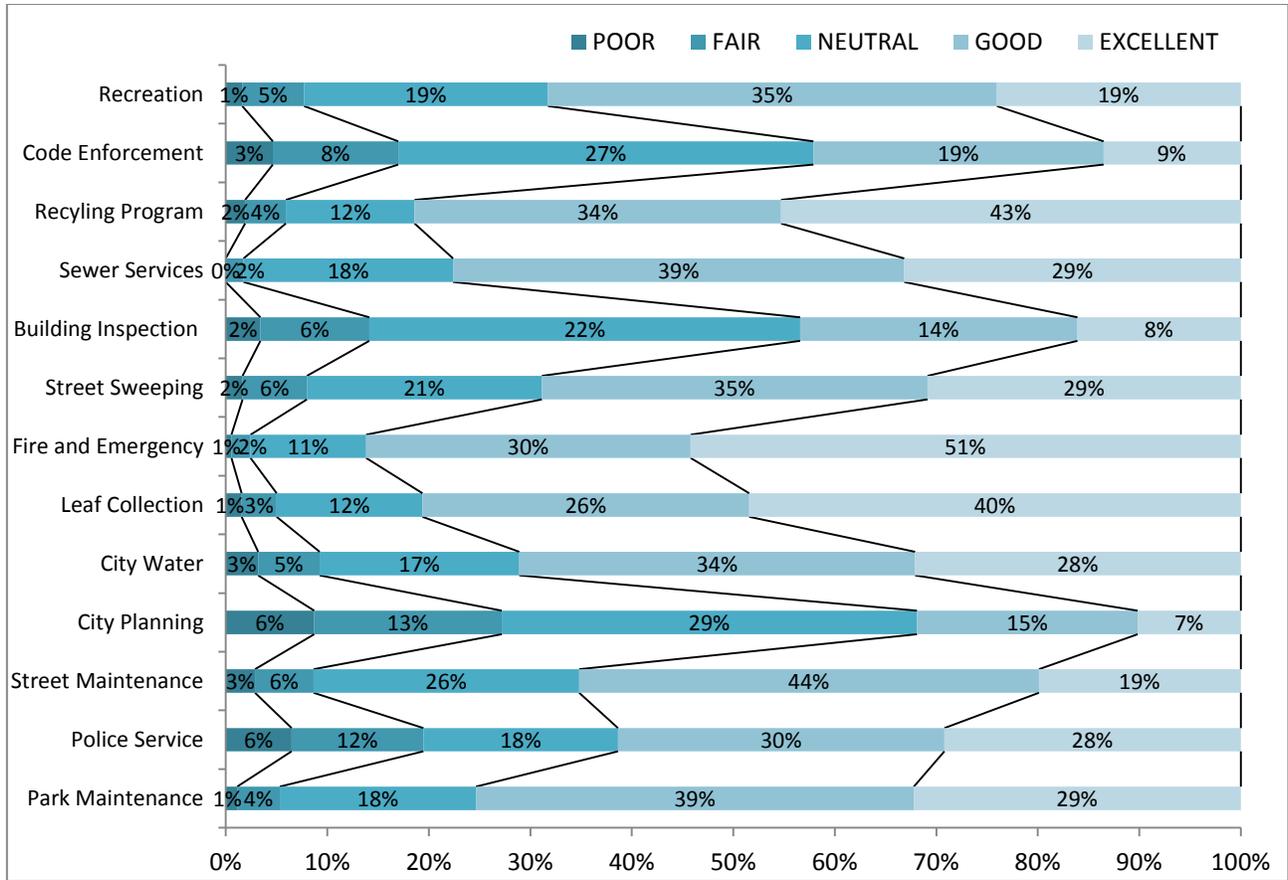

This section addresses all of the questions pertaining to City of Grants Pass services, which includes: parks maintenance; police services; street maintenance; City planning services; City water services; leaf collection program; fire and emergency services; street sweeping; building inspection services; sewer services; recycling program; code enforcement program; and recreation program. The rating of these programs and services was gathered utilizing a scale of 1 to 5, with 1 being “poor” and 5 being “excellent”.

Figure 1 displays the ratings of these services from poor to excellent. The highest rated service was Fire and Emergency Services, with 51 percent of respondents rating this service as excellent. There were two low rated services, Police Services and City Planning Services, with 6 percent of respondents rating these services as poor. Grouping the good and excellent responses together yields the favorable response percentage of each service, and Fire and Emergency Services also ranked highest with a favorable rating of 81 percent. The Recycling Program ranked second highest with a favorable rating of 77 percent. Conversely, grouping the poor and fair responses together yields the unfavorable response percentage of each service and Police Services ranked the lowest with an unfavorable rating of 18 percent. The Code Enforcement Program ranked second lowest with an unfavorable rating of 11 percent. It should be noted that Sewer Services did not receive any ratings of poor, and received only 2 percent unfavorable responses.

In looking at the overall responses, most citizens provided favorable or neutral responses with regard to questions about City of Grants Pass Services. It should be noted respondents had the option of refusing to answer these questions, therefore, this chart only shows the responses of poor, fair, neutral, good or excellent, and individual programs or services may not total 100 percent.

3.2 City Council Questions Added for 2013

This was a two-part question, firstly asking if the City should provide financial support to the Josephine County Jail, and secondly asking how the funds would be secured. The majority (60 percent) of citizens of Grants Pass are in favor of the City providing financial support to the jail. When asked how to fund this support, the largest percentage of respondents (35 percent) stated it could be funded through an additional tax. The next largest group of respondents (15 percent) was those who answered “don’t know” or refused to answer. Figure 2 presents the results of the financial support part of the question and Table 2 presents the results of the how to gain the funding part of the question.

The majority of respondents (56 percent) would like the City to continue to fund First Friday. There were 174 comments to this question, 68 on the topic of seeing the event as something positive. There were 49 negative comments, most of which were with regard to safety. The open ended responses are in Appendix C. Figure 3 displays the results of the question of should the City continue to fund First Friday.

Figure 3: Should the City Continue to Fund First Friday?

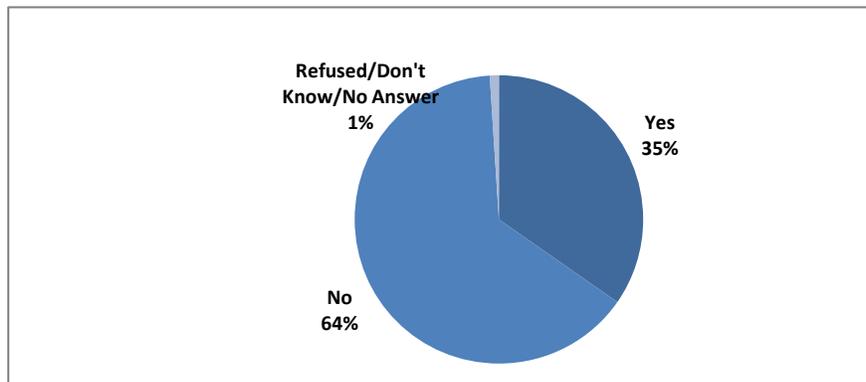

Of the 392 respondents, 141 gave responses to the question “What additional services would you like the City to provide?” Table 3 will give a summary of those responses, and all verbatim responses will be included in Appendix C. Of the 141 responses, 37 were with regard to law enforcement, police presence and public safety needing improvement; 19 were with regard to improving/increasing children’s and youth programs; 18 were with regard to homelessness or panhandling; 13 were with regard to recycling of glass and grass clippings, and composting needing to be improved; 10 were with regard to more services for the disabled, the mentally ill, and senior citizens; 9 were with regard to the City needing to be cleaned up; 9 were with regard to supporting the public library; 8 were with regard to parks, recreation, bike paths, or dog parks/services; and 8 were with regard to improving roads or public transportation services;. All other responses (27) were with regard to individual issues.

3.3 Public Involvement and Public Information

The City of Grants Pass strives to provide opportunities for the public to be informed of, and become involved in, public meetings, city issues, and activities. There are a variety of communication tools the City of Grants Pass utilizes to dispense information to its residents. Some examples are the City of Grants Pass newsletter and the City of Grants Pass website. In addition, the City ensures appropriate information is released to the local media resources. Table 5 provides the results of the respondents' opinions with regard to if there are adequate opportunities for people to participate in and influence decisions made by the City. Overall, 57 percent of respondents feel they have adequate opportunity to participate in and influence decisions made by the City.

3.4 Living in Grants Pass

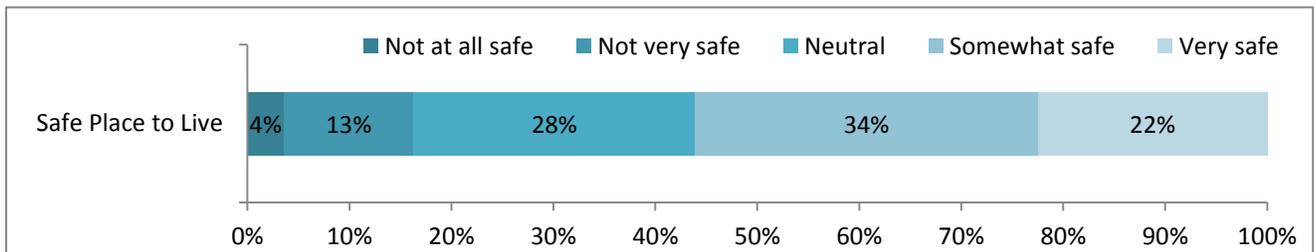

The 2013 City of Grants Pass Citizen Survey contained six questions regarding living in Grants Pass. In general, citizens of Grants Pass are content with living in the City, with an average of 60 percent of the respondents providing favorable responses to this set of questions. Two of the questions required open ended responses. Summary Tables are provided in this section, with the full verbatim responses being contained in Appendix C. Figure 9 provides the results of how citizens rate Grants Pass as a place to live.

Figure 9: Rating of Grants Pass as a Place to Live

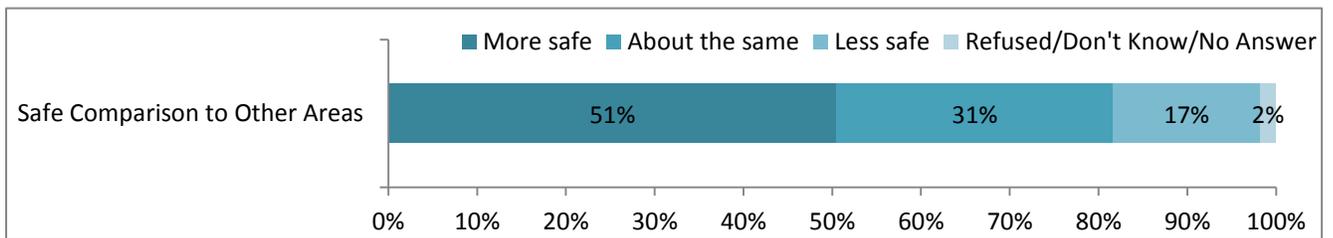

As will be noted in the trending section of this report, the citizens of the City of Grants Pass provided less favorable responses (56 percent) and more unfavorable responses (17 percent) than in previous years, when asked their feelings on how safe the City of Grants Pass is. The summary of the results may be seen in Figure 10.

Figure 10: Rating of Grants Pass as a Safe Place to Live

When asked if they felt their neighborhood was safer than in other areas of the City, more than half (51 percent) of the respondents expressed they feel their neighborhood is safer than other areas of the City, and another 31 percent feel their neighborhood is about as safe as other areas of the City. Figure 11 displays the results.

Figure 11: Comparison of Neighborhood Safety to Other Areas of the City

The growth of the City of Grants Pass is perceived by its citizens to be about right. Approximately 54 percent of the respondents expressed this when asked. Table 10 shows the results.

Table 11 provides a summary of the types of responses from citizens of the City of Grants Pass. The verbatim open ended responses may be found in Appendix C. It is interesting to note that when asked to provide suggestions for additional services as part of an earlier question, two topics mentioned (glass and yard clipping recycling and improving programs and services for senior citizens, disabled and mentally ill residents) were not even mentioned when asked “what is the one thing you would like to change that would make living in Grants Pass more enjoyable?”. Concerns about public safety top the list with 67 percent of respondents noting this as their chief item to change, with a close second being to improve the City government, clean up the City, improve the economic situation and bring in more jobs. Sixty-six percent of respondents noted this as being the thing they would most like to change.

Out of a possible 392 respondents, 376 citizens noted what they most enjoy about living in Grants Pass, which is a very high response rate. Almost all of the respondents ranked the weather, climate, natural beauty, small town feel, and the community highly. This information is best viewed in its entirety and is included in Appendix C.

3.5 Demographics of Survey Respondents

It is important to collect demographic data in a citizen survey. Demographic profiles reveal the types of the population who have responded to the survey, and provide insight into the issues that are most important to all types of citizens.

Figure 12 provides a graph of the responses to the question of how many years the respondent has lived in the City of Grants Pass. The group who have lived in the City for 21 years or more showed the highest percentage with 47 percent.

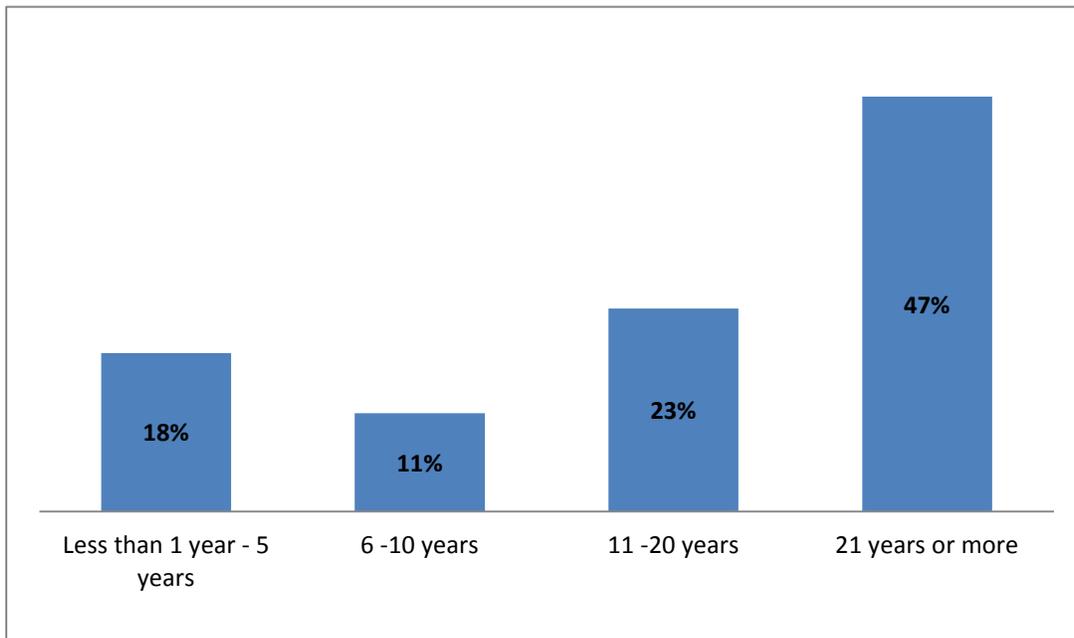

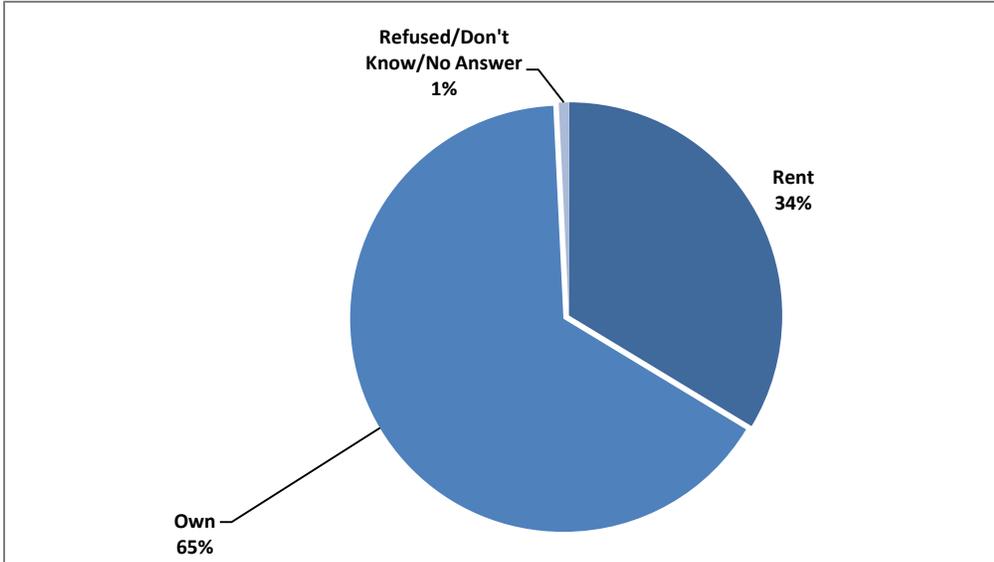

Figure 13 shows the percentage of respondents who either own or rent their principal residence. The respondents who reported owning their principal residence are in the majority with 65 percent. According to statisticbrain.com¹, this is in line with the average home ownership percentage of 64.5 percent in the United States.

When asked if they were registered to vote in the City of Grants Pass, 94 percent responded “Yes”, and 6 percent responded “No”. As discussed in the Introduction section, the majority (81 percent) of the sample records dialed were provided from voter registration lists. It is not surprising that the percentage of citizens responding “Yes” to this question was the higher percentage. Table 12 presents the results from this question.

The distribution of citizens residing in the North East, North West, South East and South West sections of the City of Grants Pass is reported as 17 percent of respondents reporting they reside in the North East, 26 percent of respondents reporting they reside in the North West, 16 percent of respondents reporting they reside in the South East, and 35 percent of respondents reporting they reside in the South West. Figure 14 displays the distribution of respondents’ residences.

Collecting ethnic origin data was added for the 2013 Citizen Survey. The first question asked if the respondent was of Hispanic origin. If the answer was “Yes”, the survey was concluded at that point. If the answer was “No”, the respondent was asked what their ethnicity is, followed by the conclusion of the survey. The responses are provided in Table 13.

3.6 Comparison of City Services and Programs

A number of comparisons have been performed, based on the favorable versus unfavorable ratings by respondents on Grants Pass as a place to live. Respondents who replied “Excellent” or “Good” to Grants Pass as a place to live were combined into one category called “Favorable”. Respondents who replied “Poor”, “Fair” or “Neutral” were combined into one category called “Unfavorable”. In general, a lower percentage of respondents who fell into the “Unfavorable” group replied favorably to each question with regard to the services provided in the City. These results are displayed in Figures 15-17.

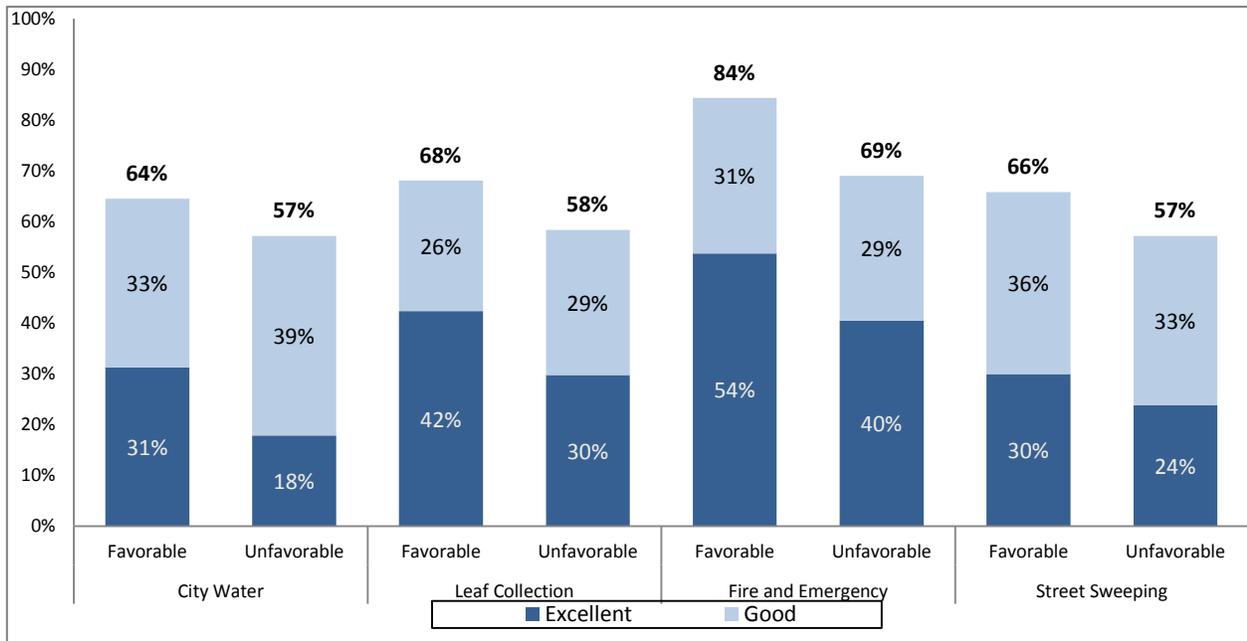

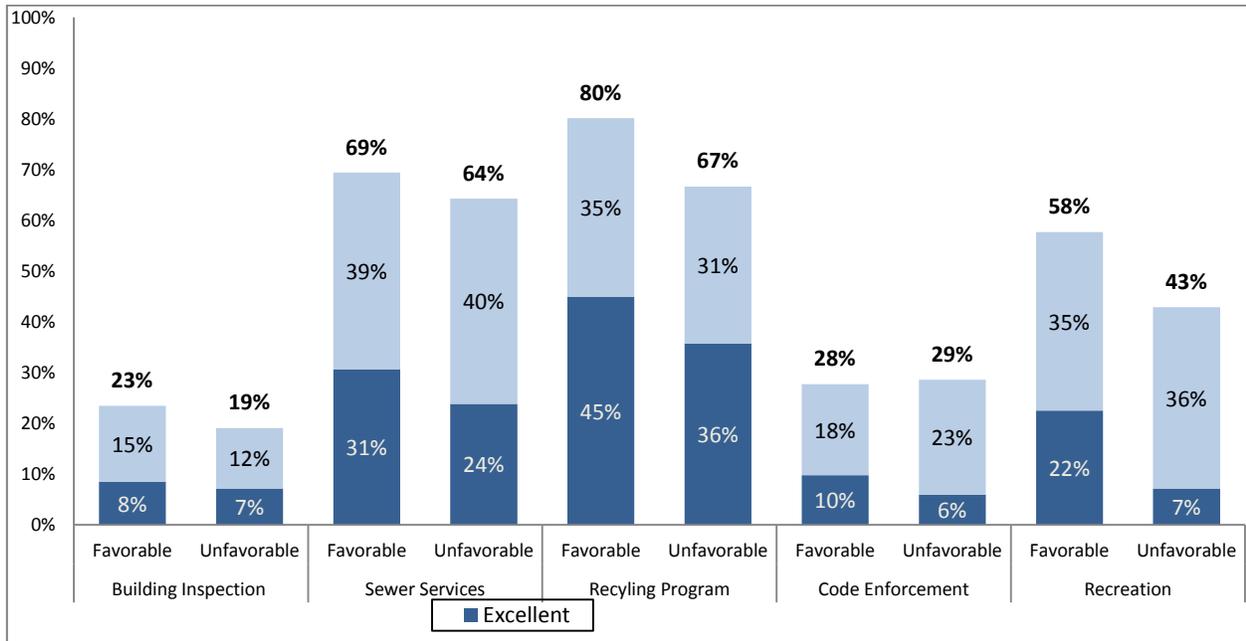

Figure 17: Part 3 - Comparison of City Service Ratings Based on Residents' Ratings of the City as a Place to Live (Favorable vs. Unfavorable)

Figures 18 and 19 contain the results of the comparison of the “Favorable” and “Unfavorable” groups (as described in the first paragraph of this section) with their responses to the questions about public involvement. It is interesting to note the “Unfavorable” group showed a higher percentage of having attended a public meeting and having volunteered in the past 12 months than the “Favorable” group. This may be an indicator that while these particular respondents do not feel Grants Pass is a good place to live, they may be attempting to contribute to improving things.

5.0 Conclusions

This survey provided excellent insight into the Grants Pass citizens' perception of the City's performance in a variety of areas. With this survey being conducted only via telephone, it is important to note there is a segment of the population who do not own a telephone, and therefore would not have been offered the opportunity to participate in this survey. Cell phone sample was included in the dialing sample, however, NuStats has found cell phone owners are less likely to participate in a telephone survey. To address this, NuStats makes two recommendations:

1. Add a web component to the survey, thereby capturing those who either do not have a telephone, or prefer to complete surveys on-line
2. Send introductory post cards to potential respondents, informing them of the upcoming survey and providing web information if they would like to complete on-line. This method will also ensure that only residents who live in the City limits are sent postcards, which will focus the sample for dialing and reporting efforts

In all surveys, there are respondents who refuse to answer one or more questions. If a particular questions or set of questions has more refusals, than others, a non-response analysis is performed to determine if the question should be worded better, changed, or removed from the survey. An item non-response analysis was not included in this project, however, a review was performed on the ratings of the programs and services group of results. The City service with the highest non-response was Building Inspection, in which 48 percent of respondent refused, gave no answer, or responded "don't know". This question is worded the same as the other questions in this group, therefore, NuStats recommends changing the order of the question for 2014 to place the Building Inspection Services rating question first, or consider placing it in its own category, or removing the question altogether. The item with the next highest non-response was Code Enforcement with 34 percent, then City Planning services with 30 percent. These three areas also showed a higher than average "neutral" response. It is possible that reordering the questions will improve the response rate.
